Each identification disk, tab, or label shall have a number that shall be recorded on all paperwork regarding the decedent. This procedure shall be designed to reasonably ensure that the proper body is reduced and that the remains are returned to the appropriate party.

K. The natural organic reduction facility shall:

1. Ensure that the material in the natural organic reduction vessel naturally reaches and maintains a minimum temperature of one hundred thirty-one degrees Fahrenheit (131° F) for a minimum of seventy-two (72) consecutive hours during the process of reduction;

set forth in paragraph 3 of this subsection on initial testing, and

- b. after twenty material samples of reduced remains have met the limits set forth in paragraph 3 of this subsection, the natural organic reduction facility shall analyze at least twenty-five percent (25%) of the natural organic reduction facility's monthly reduced remains to ensure such remains are found to meet such limits, not including any samples that required reprocessing to meet such limits, and after eighty material samples of the reduced remains are found to meet the limits set forth in paragraph 3 of this subsection, the reduction facility shall analyze one randomly chosen instance of reduced remains each month to ensure such remains meet the limits set forth in paragraph 3 of this subsection. If fecal coliform or salmonella in the tested reduced remains exceeds the limit for that substance, the reduction facility shall analyze subsequent instance of reduced remains for fecal coliform and salmonella until ten total material samples are found to meet such limits upon initial testing, demonstrating the reduction process was effectively corrected;
